Class of '93 Joins Ranks of Alumni; S.F. Chapter Welcomes 115th Class

The 115th anniversary celebration of Hastings' founding in 1878 — observance of which began with Founder's Day in March — came to an end with a birthday party thrown by the Alumni Association's San Francisco Chapter for the 115th entering class this fall. The party followed May's graduation of the Class of 1993, that other major annual transition within the Hastings family.

The 393 members of the Class of 1993 received their Juris Doctor degrees at San Francisco's Civic Auditorium. Commencement speaker Rep. Maxine Waters of Los Angeles called upon graduates to "remember well the wisdom of William Jennings Bryan who advised, 'Destiny is not a matter of chance. Destiny is a matter of choice.'

"I hope your destiny," she added, "includes commitment to public service — to defending and advancing the interests of the less powerful in our society and to a conception of justice bound not simply to legal definitions, but directed toward helping each and every individual pursue her or his God-given potential."

The special party for the entering 115th class in September included a birthday cake complete with the College's seal and 115 candles. Among those on hand to blow them out were Dean Tom Read, Academic Dean Mary Kay Kane, Board Chair Charlene Padovani Mitchell ('77), Alumni Association President William C. Carr ('62), and Associated Students of Hastings President June Morse ('94).

Alumni Around California Welcome the 115th Class

While the San Francisco Chapter this year welcomed the First-Year class with a birthday party marking its entry as the 115th class, chapters around California sponsored receptions and barbecues over the summer to welcome new Hastings students from their regions. This year's entering class of 419 was drawn from an applicant pool of 5,423 — the second highest in history, and more applicants than at any other University of California law school. Their average age is 26. They come from 25 states. They represent more than two dozen races and cultures. While entering students represent 112 different undergraduate universities, the largest numbers came from U.C. Berkeley and UCLA.

Thomas N. Fat ('65), who hosted the San Diego new students reception at his Fat City restaurant, chats with Carrie L. Gleeson ('89), Co-President of the San Diego Chapter of the Alumni Association.

Among those welcomed in Fresno were Erin E. Giacoppo, left, who will enter as a First-Year student next fall, and current First-Year student Alyson A. Carr.

Marine World Trip for Tenderloin Kids

The Hastings Surf Club — 50 members strong — continued its tradition of community service this spring by taking 45 underprivileged youngsters from the Tenderloin neighborhood to Marine World Africa USA for a day. Students raised money through bake sales and sale of t-shirts to pay for the outing. They coordinated the trip through another student group — the Association of Students for Kids — and San Francisco's Central YMCA, which provided the bus. Shown with two of the happy youngsters is Geoff Moore ('94).

Traynor Moot Court Champions

Third-year students Karen Kimmey and David Rapallo capped their second-year careers in the spring by making Hastings the law school that has won the Roger J. Traynor Moot Court Competition more times than any other school. They brought home the silver trophy for the fourth time in 25 years by edging out a UCLA team in the contest's final round, arguing a lawyer advertising case involving free speech rights. Kimmey and Rapallo also picked up third place for their trial briefs, and Kimmey won best advocate honors for being the top speaker in the final round.

Annual Fund Gifts, Donors Both Up in 1992-93

For the fourth year in a row, overall giving to Hastings has exceeded the $1 million mark. In recently announcing the annual gift figures, Dean Frank T. Read saluted the leadership efforts of the National Chair of the 1992-93 Annual Campaign, Peter W. Davis ('69), and the respective class agents, among others, for keeping Hastings' fundraising program "on the ascendancy, especially during a period of continuing decline in the overall economy."

"Despite the fact that the general economic climate recently has not been particularly conducive to charitable giving, gifts to the College's Annual Fund were up nearly 11.5 percent this past year, increasing from the $146,988 of such gifts received in 1991-92 to $163,752 of Annual Fund gifts reported in 1992-93," said Dean Read.

"Moreover, the number of the College's donors was up nearly 3 percent this past year, increasing from the 1,630 donors reported in 1991-92 to 1,676 donors in 1992-93. I simply cannot overemphasize the significant roles that were played in the success of this past year's campaign by Mr. Davis, by our very energetic and dedicated class agents, and by our very effective and loyal members of the 1066 Foundation's Board of Trustees. Their combined efforts truly have maintained the College's development program on an upward path, notwithstanding the many adverse effects of the ongoing recession. I cannot thank them enough for all they do for the College."

Dean Read also noted that Hastings alumni once again played a vital role in the success of the Annual Fund Campaign, with nearly 90 percent of the donors to this past year's campaign coming from the ranks of the College's graduates. As Read indicated: "Our alumni continue to remain loyal to their alma mater, providing much needed private support during a period when the State's direct appropriation to the College has been reduced quite dramatically. Indeed, the reduction in State assistance to the College over the past three years has totaled nearly $2.5 million. The commitment of both time and financial resources to the College by our alumni during these particularly lean economic times could not be more appreciated — or more beneficial, for that matter!"

The overall results in the competition among classes for the highest participation rate in the Annual Fund Campaign were, once again impressive. For the first time, two classes shared the spotlight in terms of the highest rate of participation, with both the Class of 1938 and Class of 1944 having the participation of 50 percent of their class members in the 1992-93 campaign. For the second year in a row, the Class of 1974 provided the greatest number of donors to the campaign, and the members of the Class of 1966 contributed, in the aggregate, the largest overall gift total.

"All in all," according to Dean Read, "the members of the various classes responded most impressively to the appeals of their respective class agents. Moreover, several of the classes are either now considering, if not currently undertaking, major class gift projects to benefit the College, usually in conjunction with their 25th or 30th anniversary of graduation from Hastings. The success of these projects will considerably enhance private support for the College in the future."

Dean Read also commended the efforts this past year of Student Phonathon Chair Aisha Tinker ('94) and her colleagues in the 1992-93 phonathon campaign, who once again conducted a very successful student-run phonathon. Read noted that he had received compliments from several alumni concerning "both the enthusiasm and courtesy that were demonstrated by the student callers during the course of the campaign. These students genuinely served as goodwill ambassadors for the College, and they provided a refreshing perspective for alumni to hear with respect to what's happening at Hastings. Hastings students not only are first rate academically, but they are a delight to meet and talk with on a personal basis, as well."

Dean Read concluded his report on this past year's giving results by noting that the late Professor Jerome Hall, who served as a Sixty-Five Club member from 1970 until his retirement in 1989, made a most generous bequest to the College of more than $250,000. Dean Read indicated that Professor Hall had already left a legacy of tremendous scholarship and several generations of lawyers who revere him as a great teacher. "Hall's legacy," Read said, "will continue to benefit students at Hastings for generations to come because his most generous bequest was designated, in part, to establish a lectureship to bring distinguished lecturers to the campus. Professor Hall's lifelong commitment to scholarship and its transmission to students could not have been more appropriately demonstrated, perhaps, than through the endowment of this lectureship."

Peter W. Davis ('69), a partner in the Oakland law firm of Crosby, Heafey, Roach & May, spearheaded Hastings' successful 1992-93 Annual Fund Campaign.

Alfred M. K. Wong ('64) is serving as National Chair of Hastings' Annual Fund Campaign for 1993-94. He is Managing Partner of Takushi, Funaki, Wong & Stone in Honolulu. He is active in many legal and community organizations, and as a Governor of Hastings' Alumni Association. The National Chair works closely with the Hastings 1066 Foundation and class agents in financial partnership with the College.

Dean Frank T. Read, in announcing the appointment, noted that Wong "continues the tradition of prominent and distinguished alumni serving as National Chairs." He also noted that many alumni will find it more advantageous to make Annual Fund donations this year than last in light of Congress' recently enacted tax-rate increases that are retroactive to January 1, 1993. Gifts of non-cash property may be particularly attractive, primarily because Congress restored full deductibility for gifts of appreciated securities and other qualified property.

Wong believes that with cut-backs caused by one of the worst recessions in California history, it is more important than ever for alumni and friends of Hastings to join in the private-public partnership that is the growing financial base of the College.

"During the two past years," Wong notes, "Hastings hosted two successful U.S. Attorneys General Forums. We set this precedent because of Hastings' prestige among law schools nationally. This is because of our academic excellence, top faculty, high admissions standards, and successful graduates."

"Funding sources that enable us to achieve these standards," he adds, "are grants, fees and tuition, State funding, and private contributions. Sadly, State funding is being cut for the third year in a row. What are our options? We are raising funds from the private sector and cutting our budget. Both roads must be travelled conscientiously. And we ask alumni and friends to make the extra effort to contribute more this year to maintain the fine reputation of Hastings."

Honor Roll of Donors

July 1, 1992 - June 30, 1993

The following pages recognize the many generous donors to the College, including the members of the donor clubs of Hastings College of the Law, for the fiscal year July 1, 1992, to June 30, 1993. Gifts made after June 30, 1993, will be recognized in next year's annual report. If you find any errors or omissions, please contact the Office of College Relations at 200 McAllister Street, San Francisco, CA 94102.

The College honors these alumni and friends whose gifts add immeasurably to the quality of legal education at Hastings.

Thank you for your support.

Fiscal Operations

During the fiscal year 1992-93, the College suffered a loss of $950,000 in State and fee/tuition funding. Through sound fiscal management, a reserve from prior years, and a thorough scrutiny of all College expenditures, the College was able to absorb the funding loss without any noticeable reduction in service. In addition, due to an early retirement program offered by the University of California, the College has been able to downsize its organization through attrition. The salary savings realized through this downsizing have assisted the College in meeting the reduction in funding.

Board Elects New Leaders; Three Directors End Terms

Charlene Padovani Mitchell ('77) has been elected Chair of the Hastings College of the Law Board of Directors — the first woman elected to the post. Joining her as Vice-chair is former California Assemblyman John T. Knox ('52). Their selection as leaders of the Board coincides with several other transitions. Retiring from the board after 12-year terms are Ralph S. Abascal ('68) and Joseph W. Cotchett ('64).

Meanwhile, Lois Haight Herrington ('65) resigned following her appointment as a Contra Costa County Superior Court Judge earlier this year. Gov. Pete Wilson had not appointed successors as of mid-November.

Francisco Superior Court Judge Donald Mitchell.

Mitchell had been serving as Vice Chair of the Board and has also served as Chair of its Finance Committee. She has held many offices with Queens Bench in San Francisco, including its presidency in 1986.

Knox was appointed to the Board in 1981 by former Gov. Jerry Brown and was reappointed to a second 12-year term earlier this year by Gov. Wilson. Knox is a partner in the San Francisco law firm of Nossaman, Guthner, Knox & Elliott. He is a resident of Richmond.

Mitchell succeeds John A. Sproul, a retired executive vice president of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Francisco.

Director Reaches New Heights

Before anyone on the Hastings Board of Directors jumps to a conclusion in the future, he or she may want to consult fellow Director Jan Lewenhaupt, the great-grandson of College founder and first Chief Justice of California Serranus Clinton Hastings. Shown here at Squaw Valley, Lewenhaupt boldly leaps from the platform of the highest altitude bungee jumping tower in the world. Lewenhaupt, who is in his mid-70s, recently quipped that he has a quarter of a century in which to practice if he decides to break the record as the oldest bungee jumper set by a 100-year-old in San Diego this fall.

Journal Articles Are Now Available By Phone and Fax

Hastings Scholarly Publications office is launching a new service—copies of journal articles by telephone and fax.

The service is available for articles appearing in the Hastings Law Journal, International and Comparative Law Review, Constitutional Law Quarterly, Communication and Entertainment Law Journal (COMM/ENT), and Women's Law Journal.

Once registered, an individual will receive the table of contents with abstracts and an order form, upon publication of each issue. Registration is free.

Articles can be ordered by telephone and fax, with a normal turn around of 24 hours. Articles are sent for a copying charge of $10 per article, including delivery by Priority U.S. Mail. For additional charges, faster delivery is available via express mail or fax. Rush orders, with a 50-cent per page surcharge, can be transmitted by fax within three hours.

For more information or to register for the new service, telephone Albert Kaba in the Scholarly Publications office at (415) 565-4738, or send a fax to (415) 565-4814.

Ralph Abascal Awarded 1993 Kutak-Dodds Prize

Ralph Santiago Abascal ('68), General Counsel of California Rural Legal Assistance since 1975, was awarded the 1993 Kutak-Dodds Prize for his commitment and work as an advocate for the poor and disadvantaged. Abascal recently retired from Hastings' Board of Directors upon completion of a 12-year term.

The Kutak-Dodds Prize is awarded annually in memory of the late Robert J. Kutak and the late Kenneth K. Dodds, former partners in the Omaha office of Kutak, Rock & Campbell. Kutak dedicated his career to public service and legal education, and Dodds was well known for his lifelong interest in providing legal services to the disadvantaged.

The $10,000 award, sponsored by the Robert J. Kutak Foundation and the National Legal Aid and Defender Association, recognizes contributions "to the enhancement of the human dignity and quality of life of those persons unable to afford legal representation."

Abascal's career has included personal involvement in a wide range of issues affecting the poor, including abuses in the welfare system, the rights of workers — especially farm workers, the impact of environmental legislation on the poor, and the impact of scientific research on employment opportunities.

"Few persons have fought as hard or as successfully on behalf of the poor," said Clinton Lyons, NLADA's executive director.

Abascal is a past winner of the State Bar of California's Loren Miller Legal Services Award for outstanding leadership in extending legal services to the poor of California.

New Associate Academic Dean

Professor Leo P. Martinez ('78), at right, has been appointed Associate Academic Dean, succeeding Professor H. G. Prince. Martinez brings a special background to his new duties—a varied professional background, his teaching and research experience as a faculty member, and active alumni work as a member of the Alumni Association's Board of Governors. He is seen here at a reception during a meeting of the Association's governors in Honolulu earlier this year with Randall K. Steverson ('78), left, and the Hon. Michael A. Town ('68).

Class Notes

1930s

1934

Mildred W. Levin, a solo practitioner in San Francisco, remains active in San Francisco community affairs, devoting time to helping rape victims as well as working with the civic committee that is supporting construction in the Civic Center of a new Main Library for San Francisco.

1940s

1940

Robert G. Jacobs, who lives in San Mateo, California, is retired from the Estate & Gift Tax Division of the Internal Revenue Service.

1949

Wilbur F. Littlefield has retired after 17 years as Los Angeles County Public Defender.

1950s

1952

Gordon D. Schaber, a Sacramento City College alumnus, was honored in November by the Community College League of California with its Distinguished Alumni Award. Schaber graduated with great distinction in the Class of 1947 from Sacramento Junior College (now Sacramento City College). He is a professor of law at McGeorge School of Law in Sacramento.

1956

Herbert G. Hawkins, a solo practitioner in San Rafael, California, has been appointed as a part-time traffic referee for the Marin County Municipal Court. He is a past president of the Marin County Bar Association.

1957

Hon. Earl B. Gilliam, the first African-American to serve as a judge in San Diego County and the lone black on the San Diego federal bench, has shifted to senior status, which is allowing him to reduce his workload. He was appointed to the Municipal Court bench by Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown in 1963, and elevated to the Superior Court bench in 1975 by Gov. Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown, Jr. President Jimmy Carter appointed him to the federal bench. San Diego's African-American Bar Association is named in his honor.

1960s

1960

Hon. Raymond J. Arata, Jr., has been elected Presiding Judge of San Francisco Superior Court. He is a 20-year veteran of the San Francisco bench, having served on the Municipal Court prior to elevation to the Superior Court by former Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr.

1963

James C. Hagedorn was appointed by the State Bar of California as one of the lawyer members of the Committee on Minimum Continuing Legal Education. He is also serving as an advisor to the executive committee of the Litigation Section of the State Bar. He continues to practice plaintiffs' personal injury in Sacramento, California.

Thomas G. Hendricks has been named County Counsel in Marin County, California. He is a 28-year veteran of the office he is now heading.

David W. McMurtry is a principal in the Law Offices of de la Vergne, McMurtry, Aronowitz & Bordelon in Sacramento and Auburn, California. The new firm was created by the

This Fall 1993 listing of Class Notes is based on items received before September 15, 1993. Items received after that date will appear in the Spring 1994 issue of your Hastings Community. If you have news for Class Notes, send it along in the envelope found in the center of this issue.

Bruce N. Crawford has joined with three other attorneys to form the new firm of Huffman, Usem, Saboe & Crawford, P.A., in Minneapolis, Minnesota. He practices primarily in the area of taxation.

John C. Till, who moved into the real estate field in Pacifica, California, after 20 years of law practice, is President of the Pacifica-Half Moon Bay Association of Realtors and is a State Director of the California Association of Realtors.

1966

Hon. Marvin R. Baxter, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of California, received an Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree from Southwestern University School of Law in Los Angeles, for "providing a model of leadership, integrity, and common sense for future generations of legal professionals." It was awarded when Justice Baxter delivered the Commencement address to Southwestern's Class of 1993.

Foundation Supports Academic Programs

John K. "Jack" Smith ('54), second from right, was on hand as a Past President of the Hastings 1066 Foundation to present checks for three of the Foundation's annual grants to academic programs — $10,000 to the academic dean for faculty support, $10,000 for the Moot Court program, and $12,500 for support of scholarly journals. Visiting with him during the 1993 Scholarship Tea at which the awards were made are, from left, Antoinette Young ('76), director of Moot Court; Albert Kaba, coordinator of Scholarly Publications; and Academic Dean Mary Kay Kane.

Robert L. House, a partner in Lavorato, House & Granberg in Salinas, California, has received the Chief Justice Gibson Award, the highest honor of the Monterey County Bar Association. The award is named for the late California Chief Justice, Phil S. Gibson. It is given to the lawyer who "best exemplifies the unselfish community spirit and high legal and ethical standards of Phil Gibson."

Douglas M. Moore, Jr., partner at Sedgwick, Detert, Moran & Arnold in San Francisco, has been promoted to two-star Rear Admiral in the United States Naval Reserve. He is one of only 16 Americans who hold that rank, the highest level to which a Naval Reservist can rise. A Naval Reserve officer since 1963, Moore was promoted to Rear Admiral in 1989.

Joel A. Shawn, who is in practice with his wife, M. Dee Samuels, in the San Francisco firm of Samuels & Shawn, has been elected Vice President of the Association of Family and Conciliation Courts, an international association of judges, lawyers, and mental health professionals concerned with children's issues of divorce. He is a certified family law specialist.

Alexander Anolik, a travel industry advocate, and criminal defense lawyer Nathan Cohn merged their practices to form 10-lawyer Alexander Anolik and Associates. Anolik previously ran his own nine-lawyer practice, the Law Offices of Alexander Anolik.

Lyman (Ladd) Bedford moved to Keck, Mahin & Cate's Los Angeles office as co-partner-in-charge and head of the office's litigation practice. He had been the senior litigation partner in the firm's San Francisco office.

1968

Hon. Ina Levin Gyemant of the San Francisco Superior Court has been elected Vice-chair of the California Commission on Judicial Performance.

1969

David M. Van Atta has merged his real estate practice with that of Stanford Law alum John Hanna to form the Palo Alto, California, firm of Hanna & Van Atta. Van Atta recently ended a six-year partnership with Graham & James.

1970s

James R. Arnold, a partner at Severson & Werson in San Francisco, was reappointed Vice-chairman of the American Bar Association's Solid and Hazardous Waste

Committee, a post he has held since 1985. He heads Severson's four-lawyer environmental department, which handles litigation, transactional and regulatory compliance matters involving, among other things, hazardous waste and cleanups.

William D. Taylor, a partner at Hanson, Bridgett, Marcus, Vlahos & Rudy in San Francisco, has been named First Vice President of the Transportation Lawyers Association. The 650-member educational association advises the motor, aviation, rail, and maritime industries on legal and regulatory developments.

Lawrence A. Callaghan has signed on with 50-attorney Severson & Werson in San Francisco as a partner. Callaghan joins the commercial law firm after more than five years as a partner with Long & Levit. Callaghan practices commercial, financial, and business litigation, as well as white collar criminal defense.

Lee A. Chilcote, a partner in Hahn Loeser & Parks in Cleveland, Ohio, has been elected to the American College of Real Estate Lawyers. In addition to real estate law, he concentrates in the areas of banking and environmental law.

James J. Tamulski, formerly a partner in San Francisco's Graham & James, is a new name partner of San Diego-based Kaye, Rose, Tamulski & Maltzman, a general maritime practice. He is heading a newly opened San Francisco office. The firm previously was Kaye, Rose & Maltzman.

Sandra Blair, a certified family law specialist in San Francisco, has expanded her litigation practice to include family law mediation.

Robert L. Crowell has been elected to a second two-year term on the Board of Governors of the State Bar of Nevada. He is a partner in the law firm of Crowell, Susich, Owen & Tackes in Carson City, Nevada.

Thomas E. Miller, a member of the Hastings 1066 Foundation, has published his second legal textbook, California Construction Defect Litigation: Commercial and Residential (Wiley & Son, 1993). He is the senior and founding partner of the Law Offices of Thomas E. Miller, with offices in San Diego, Orange County, Los Angeles, and Palm Desert.

Alicia N. Noyola has been promoted to Vice President of Calpine Corp. in San Jose California. In her new role, she is responsible for identifying, evaluating, and negotiating new power projects for Calpine's project development group, as well as for all legal documentation associated with new projects.

1974

Cecily A. Drucker, who had a two-lawyer firm with Boalt Hall graduate Louis Weller, is now of counsel to the San Francisco office of the Los Angeles firm of Musick, Peeler & Garrett. She was a partner with Skjerven, Morrill, MacPherson, Franklin & Friel for five years before merging her real estate transactions, business succession and estate planning practice with Weller, who is also of counsel to Musick, Peeler & Garrett.

1975

Daniel A. Mathews, formerly a finance partner at Graham & James, has joined Orrick, Herrington & Sutcliffe in its New York office. He specializes in asset-based commercial and financial transactions.

Susan M. Popik and two fellow partners at Rogers, Joseph, O'Donnell & Quinnhas in San Francisco have launched their own firm of Chapman, Popik & White. The three-attorney firm focuses on civil trials and appeals, specifically business torts and commercial contracts, insurance coverage, employment, attorney malpractice, and products liability. Her fellow partners, William Chapman and Mark White, are adjunct professors at Hastings, both teaching evidence and advocacy.

Alumni Teach in College of Advocacy

Deborah S. Ballati ('75), left, and Edith R. Matthai ('75), shown here in Hastings' Moot Court, are among alumni who have returned to campus as part of the Continuing Legal Education program. Ballati and Matthai were on hand for the 1993 College of Advocacy in June. Ballati chaired the Business Litigation Institute and Matthai was a faculty member in both the Business Litigation and Personal Injury Institutes.

Richard L. Seabolt, a partner at Hancock, Rothert & Bunshoft in San Francisco, was lead defense counsel in Aerojet v. Transport, a 10-month jury trial reported by the National Law Journal as the largest case in the U.S. tried to a defense verdict in 1992. The plaintiff claimed insurance coverage for costs of cleaning up groundwater pollution at its Sacramento rocket manufacturing facility. Aerojet's pollution cleanup costs by mid-1992 were approximately $75 million.

Hastings Alumni: Study at Oxford, Summer '94

For the first time, Hastings College of the Law will combine academic resources with University College, one of the oldest and most prestigious colleges of Oxford University, to present a week long program of continuing legal education in Oxford, England, August 6-14, 1994. The program is divided into two topics of general interest — “Advising Clients Doing Business in the New Economic Community” and “Litigating in London.” The program will allow participants to qualify for 12 hours of MCLE credit (one year's requirement).

ACCOMMODATIONS & SOCIAL EVENTS

Participants in the program have a choice of accommodations. They may choose to “live in college,” experiencing the cozy charm of 17th century rooms with beamed ceilings. University College has been the home of many famous politicians and scholars, including former Prime Ministers Clement Attlee and J. Harold Wilson, the poet Percy Bysshe Shelley, the teacher and writer C.S. Lewis, and the astrophysicist Stephen Hawking. And yes, University College was where a young American Rhodes Scholar didn't inhale.

You can also opt for more modern accommodations at the nearby Eastgate Hotel, a Forte Heritage hotel, complete with bathrooms en suite. All participants will take some of their meals in the handsome dining hall of University College, will take their lectures in the College's rooms, and will have access to the lovely public grounds of this historic College.

You will be offered the opportunity to explore Oxford and its environs. Oxford is within easy distance to Stratford Upon Avon, the home of William Shakespeare and the Royal Shakespeare Company. Other excursions may include the Cotswolds, the town of Bath, Stonehenge, and Blenheim Palace. Other social activities, such as golf and tennis, also will be available.

COST

The Continuing Legal Education (CLE) part of the program will cost $1,400. Accommodation and airfare packages are available at varying prices. Sightseeing excursions and packages to London either before or after the program will be available for an additional charge. For more information and an application, contact:

Hastings' Office of Continuing Legal Education,
200 McAllister Street, San Francisco, CA 94102, Telephone: (415) 565-4664.
Application and full payment due by February 18, 1994.

TOPICS & INSTRUCTORS

“Advising Clients Doing Business in the New Economic Community” will highlight general business, intellectual property, environmental and tax issues of which American lawyers should be aware.

“Litigating in London” will provide a solid background in the structure of the English legal system.

We will talk with judges, solicitors, and barristers about comparative problems in advocacy and ethics. Another topic, which crosses the boundaries of transactional and litigation practice and which is a required MCLE topic beginning in 1995, is gender bias. We will learn about comparative problems of women in law. The instructors will include distinguished lecturers from Oxford University, Hastings College of the Law, as well as practicing judges, solicitors and barristers.

A special certificate of participation in the Oxford/Hastings Institute will be awarded to participants.
